

Kurilian Bobtail*General

The Kurilian Bobtail is a naturally occurring bobtailed cat with substantial boning, well muscled and a semi-cobby body; large head, moderate wedge shape with rounded contours and wide at the cheekbone level; the chin is rounded in profile. The impression one should get when viewing the Kurilian Bobtail is one of strength and power.

Head

Large, moderate wedge shape, rounded in contours, wide at the cheekbone. With a flat to ever-so-slightly rounded forehead and a very slight dip at the eye level, to the broad, medium length, straight nose, the chin is rounded in profile.

Japanese Bobtail*General

The Japanese Bobtail should present the overall impression of a medium-sized cat with long clean lines and bone structure. It is well muscled, but straight and slender rather than massive in build. The unique set of its eyes, combined with high cheekbones and a long parallel nose, lends a distinctive Japanese cast to the face, especially in profile, which is quite different from the other Oriental breeds.

Head

Almost equilateral triangle, gentle curves. Although the head appears long and finely chiseled, it forms an almost perfect equilateral triangle with gentle curving lines, high cheek bones and a noticeable whisker break.

American Bobtail*General

The American Bobtail, native to North America, is a medium to large, naturally occurring short-tailed cat which is a product of natural selection. It is a hearty breed that has all the intelligence and skill that nature demands of her creatures. The American Bobtail displays the look of an athletic animal, well-muscled and solid, with the appearance of power. The breed should also be noted for an exceptional disposition and adaptability. Breed is slow to mature, taking 2-3 years.

Head

Broad modified wedge with gently rounded contours, without noticeable flat planes or doming. Size in proportion to body. Gentle concave curve between nose and brow. Muzzle slightly wider than long, break at well-defined cheeks.

Pixiebob*General

The Pixiebob is a domestic cat with a visual similarity to the North American Bobcat, having a strong heavy muscular body with substantial boning, inverted pear-shaped head, heavily hooded eyes and a strong muzzle and chin.

Head

Medium to large inverted wide pear shape, slightly rounded forehead to eye ridge, slight concave curve from eye ridge to bridge of nose. Wide nose, slightly convex with large brick color nose leather and slight nose bump.

Mekong Bobtail*General

The Mekong Bobtail is a medium sized colorpoint cat, with an amusing short tail in the form of a pom-pom or brush. The head is a short wedge with gently rounded contours. Ears are of average size, eyes oval and set straight. Athletic body type with strong graceful paws.

Head

Gently rounded contours. Top of head is slightly flat. Curved profile, with the dip below eye level. Roman nose, strong chin and lower jaw, fine oval muzzle with a whisker break.

Manx / Cymric*General

The Manx/Cymric are medium sized, compact, muscular cats. They have a rounded head with a firm muzzle and prominent cheeks. Having short front legs, longer hind legs, great depth of flank and a short back which forms a smooth continuous arch from the shoulders to the round rump. Slow maturing, allowance should be made for young cats in judging depth of flank, stud jowls in the male and overall lack of maturity. They should appear tailless.

Head

Rounded and slightly longer than broad. Medium in size. Cheeks are prominent with stud jowls in the mature stud cat. Gentle nose dip with a moderately rounded forehead. Muzzle slightly longer than broad with definite muzzle break, round whisker pads.
